Figures should not be embedded in the manuscript file. Please submit one file per figure. Multiple panels should be combined into a single file, unless this will lower the resolution of the images.

Title Page
The title page should contain: 1) a concise title of 30 or fewer words; 2) first name, middle initial, and last name of authors, with highest academic degree and the current institutional or private practice affiliation for each (please use footnote symbols in the sequence *, †, ‡, §, ¶, ‡, , etc. to identify authors and their corresponding institutions); 3) disclaimers, if any; 4) the name and address (including email) of the author responsible for correspondence; 5) word count and number of figures and tables in the manuscript; 6) short running title of no more than 50 characters, including spaces; and 7) a one-sentence summary describing the key finding(s).

Key Words
A maximum of six key words or short phrases, drawn from MeSH documentation, should be included in your manuscript.

Images
Primary Images are included within the published paper. Supplemental Images are linked to the published paper and appear in a pop-up box. All supplemental material must be carefully edited and should provide additional details or clinical demonstrations of specific points. Please see specific instructions provided for each manuscript category for image limitations. Images must be of high quality for publication in the journal. To ensure the highest quality reproduction of your figures and images, please observe the following recommendations.

Image Framing and Removal of Extraneous Material
Care should be taken to remove as much blood, extraneous debris, and irrelevant structures (lips, tongue, etc.) as possible from the images. Brand or commercial names should not be visible. Images should be cropped appropriately.

Resolution
The following resolutions must be submitted for your image files: 1,000 dpi for line art (type and line only); 600 dpi for all color images and b/w combination halftones (images and type); and 300 dpi for b/w halftones (grayscale with no type or lettering). Please do not reduce your figures below a readable size to achieve higher resolution. These files will not be usable.

File Format
TIFF, EPS, or JPEG image files are preferred. Word or PowerPoint files are acceptable alternatives. For graphs and charts, use only solid tones or colors as fill patterns.

Color Space
All images must be saved and submitted as RGB, not CMYK.

Fonts in Figures or Images
Files other than TIFF or JPEG must be saved with fonts embedded. Acceptable fonts include Helvetica, Times New Roman, Symbol, Mathematical PI, and European PI. All other fonts may be replaced, resulting in data loss or realignment.

Videos
The following video formats are accepted: .avi, .mpg, .wmv, .mov, .swf, .mp4. Videos should be limited to 30 seconds or less and carefully edited to remove extraneous material. Authors should adhere to OSHA regulations when preparing their videos. Please e-mail clinicalperio@perio.org for information on how to submit videos.

Additional Instructions
Identification of Products
Use of brand names within the title or text is not acceptable. When identification of a product within the text is needed or helpful, a generic term should be used and the brand name, manufacturer, and location (city/state/country) cited as a footnote.

Requirement for Ethics Board Approval
Most case reports and case series are a retrospective description of clinical findings in a case or an observed course of events that documents a new aspect of patient management during the normal course of clinical treatment. If the manuscript includes the data analysis results of testing a specific hypothesis or the treatment or collection of data beyond that which is part of routine clinical management of the case, it qualifies as “research” and must have an institutional review board approval and written informed consent from each patient. The journal adheres to the principles set forth in the Helsinki Declaration of 1975, as revised in 2000, and requires that all reported research involving human subjects be conducted in accordance with such principles. For more information on ethics board approval, please see the “Requirement for Ethics Board Approval” section on page 3 of the Journal of Periodontology Instructions to Authors.

Patient Privacy
No patient identifiers should be included in any papers.

Authorship
Individuals identified as authors must meet the following criteria established by the International Committee of Medical Journal Editors (http://www.icmje.org/): 1) substantial contributions to conception and design, or acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data; 2) drafting the article or revising it critically for important intellectual content; and 3) final approval of the version to be published.

Conflict of Interest and Financial Disclosure Forms
A conflict of interest and financial disclosure form must be submitted by each author. A link to this form will be e-mailed to each author after manuscript submission. More information on conflicts of interest can be found under the “Conflicts of Interest” section on pages 5 and 6 of the Journal of Periodontology Instructions to Authors.

Copyright
All manuscripts accepted for publication become the property of the American Academy of Periodontology. A link to the copyright form will be e-mailed to all authors once a manuscript is accepted for publication.
